

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

Lieut. Captain Holmes, Captain McRae, and others proceeded to the spot, and let down a well rope of sufficient length to reach the soldier, and capable of sustaining him for a time. Both Captain McRae and Captain Holmes volunteered to go down, but as the former was a light weight it was decided that he should make the trial, Captain Holmes demurring, as he wished to undertake the risk himself. The rope being very weak, it could not possibly have borne Captain Holmes's great weight. Captain McRae was accordingly let down by means of a four-strand bent rope, and on reaching the water found the soldier practically insensible; he therefore decided to go up with him. Captain Holmes was at the head of the rope, and his strength enabled him to lift both completely, hauling up about 10 or 15 feet, the rope broke, precipitating Captain McRae and his charge to the bottom well. A second attempt was made, and both were brought to the surface. The depth of the well was 7 which 10 feet was water. It was quite dark at the time. With reference to this case, the following divisi by the Duke of Connaught was issued to the troops in his command:—"His Royal Highness the Major General Commanding, having been made acquainted with the circumstances connected with the rescue from drowning in a well at Rawul Pindee of Trumpeter S. ¹ General Lave served with the 58th Regiment as Captain during the New Zealand war of 1845-47, and was actively engaged in the assault and capture of Kawiti's Pah on the 11th January 1846 (mentioned in orders); was also engaged in several minor affairs in the Southern Province. Commanded the Troops at Wanganni, and was instrumental in the capture of five Natives who had barbarously murdered and mutilated the family of a settler. The Chiefs of the District, who were nearly related to the culprits, assembled a war party of 700 men for their rescue, while the British force consisted of only 170 men, notwithstanding which Captain Lave ordered a Court Martial, composed of subalterns, for the trial of the murderers, and on their conviction had four of them hanged as soon as possible. The execution was followed by an attack upon the settlement by the war party, and which was repulsed with great loss. Governor Sir George Grey, in two despatches to Earl Grey, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, reported,—“that the firmness and decision with which Captain Lave acted had saved the country from serious and protracted rebellion.” He received the special approbation of Her Majesty through Earl Grey in the following terms,—“I have it especially in command to assure you of the sense which Her Majesty entertains of the firmness with which Captain Lave acted upon the occasion of the attack of the Natives on the town of Wanganni, and of the gallant conduct of himself and the detachment under his orders on that occasion.” He was mentioned in the Government Gazette and despatches, received the Brevet of Major, and Medal.
